A reliable friend keeps promises.

Five useful friendship phrases

PHRASE

MEANING

TRY YOUR OWN SENTENCE

get along with

have a friendly relationship

fall out with stop being friendly after an argument

make up with

become friends again after an argument

let someone down

disappoint someone who trusted you

gossip about

talk about someone's private life

Choose two phrases. Use each in a new sentence.

Reading · Promises and choices

READ THE TEXT

- 1 Be yourself. You do not need to pretend to enjoy everything your friends like. You can have different opinions and still respect each other.
- 2 Keep your promises. If you agree to work on a project, do not cancel just because a party sounds more exciting. Discuss changes and accept your friend's answer.

YOUR ANSWERS

- A Keep your promises
- B Agree with everything
- C Be yourself

Match paragraph 1 and 2 to headings A–C.

Which heading is extra? Why?

Read the whole paragraph before choosing a heading.

Reading · Privacy and listening

READ THE TEXT

3 Respect privacy. Do not gossip about a friend's mistakes or repeat a private message. If a secret could lead to serious harm, ask a trusted adult for help.

4 Listen. Give your friend time to explain their feelings. You do not have to agree with everything, but you should try to understand their point of view.

YOUR ANSWERS

1 What should stay private?

2 When should you ask an adult?

3 Must friends agree? Give evidence.

Answer in your own words, then point to the supporting sentence.

Advice with a reason

“My friend never listens.” Give advice.

“Someone shared my private message.” Give advice.

You should + verb · Why don't you + verb? · Add a reason with because.

Usually, now or yesterday?

Usually: Ella ____ to her friends. (listen)

Now: Ella is ____ to her friend's problem. (listen)

Yesterday: Ella ____ to her friend. She ____ interrupt. (listen / not)

Then: "Yesterday, Kim promised to help Ali. Kim forgot and went home." Continue in 4 sentences.

Five-minute break

Pause, stretch and look away from the screen

Resume at minute 50

Listening · A new student

First listen: What is Sam's main problem?

Second listen: Who helped him, and what did they do?

What did Alex do about the unkind messages?

Original listening · Rory reads aloud twice · No publisher recording

Peer support · Your conversation

Round 1: Rory = new student
Ferdie = buddy

Round 2: Ferdie = new student
Rory = buddy

Start each round:
“I sit alone at lunch.”

“Would you like to sit with us?”

“You could sit with us because we like football too.”

A model reply to a friend

READ THE TEXT

Hi Leo,
Thanks for your message. I'm sorry your friend keeps cancelling your plans. I understand why you feel let down.

You should talk to him when you are both calm. Explain that last-minute changes make it difficult to meet. Why don't you agree on one afternoon that works for both of you? He may have a reason you do not know about.

I hope things get better. Let me know what happens.
All the best,
Sam

YOUR ANSWERS

Find a friendly opening.

Find two suggestions and a reason.

Why doesn't Sam judge immediately?

Notice the structure. Your own task uses a different problem.

IN CLASS · Your friendly email

Jess: “My friend jokes about me in front of others. Alone, she is kind.”

Write Jess a reply of 90–110 words.

- 1 Understanding · About 2 sentences
- 2 Two suggestions + reasons · About 4–5 sentences
- 3 Friendly ending · About 1–2 sentences

Use a greeting and sign-off. Roughly 7–9 sentences; lengths vary.

2 min plan · 7 min write · 1 min check · Model hidden

IN CLASS · Improve your reply

Does your advice answer Jess's problem?

Check should + verb and one past-tense sentence, if used.

Improve one sentence. Explain what you changed.

IN CLASS · A new exit check

Dan's friend promised to help him yesterday, but forgot.

Reword Dan's sentence as two short sentences in the past tense. Say them aloud.

Give Dan one suggestion and a reason.

Name one thing a school buddy can do.

Answer all three independently. Then compare with Rory.

AFTER CLASS · One small task

- 01 The email and revision are in-class activities.
- 02 Agree ONE follow-up with Rory. Allow about 10–15 minutes.
- 03 Bring your latest English school task next time.

RESERVE · Sharing the chores

OPTIONAL RESERVE · CHOOSE IF TIME ALLOWS

READ THE TEXT

Three generations live in one house. Maya cooks on Tuesday and Thursday. Her partner cleans the kitchen. Grandad waters the plants, and Grandma reads with the children. Last night, Maya cooked, but nobody washed up. Everyone thought someone else would do it.

YOUR ANSWERS

What caused the problem?

Make a fair plan for tonight.

Why does a clear agreement help?

Optional · Speak first, then write a three-line agreement.

RESERVE · Actions and feelings

OPTIONAL RESERVE · CHOOSE IF TIME ALLOWS

READ THE TEXT

After school, Elliot meets Richard and the Guardians. Richard questions him with a smile, but Elliot feels frightened. Elliot thinks he must choose every word carefully. Richard seems friendly on the surface, yet his questions make Elliot feel under pressure.

YOUR ANSWERS

Richard's actions? Elliot's feelings?

Does a smile prove kindness? Why?

Give two choices and likely consequences.

Use evidence for the feeling. Separate appearance from intention.

RESERVE · A friendship mini-quiz

OPTIONAL RESERVE · CHOOSE IF TIME ALLOWS

“We fell out ____ each other, but made ____ the next day.”

“He talks friendly.” Improve the sentence.

A new student knows nobody. Offer help, then explain why.

Optional · Answer, explain and create one new example of each.
